SWEET BRIAR COLLEGE

presents . . .

THE 1966
BRIAR PATCH

FOREWORD

"All the world's a stage,

And all the men and women merely players:

They have their exits and their entrances;

And one man in his time plays many parts . . ."

A four-year scene forming characters for future roles, offering many parts to each player. An active interplay of many influences. Dialogues shaping ideas. A potential awakened.

An exit, and an entrance.

MRS. W. RALPH AIKEN
Assistant Dean of the College

An adopted member of the Class of 1966: a "freshman" the year we were freshmen . . . Resident Counselor, teacher, Assistant Dean . . . in every role concerned for each and all of us.

It is with appreciation for this concern that we dedicate our year-book to Anne E. Aiken.

DEDICATION

ANNE E. AIKEN
Assistant Dean of Sweet Briar College

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

PRESIDENT

ANNE GARY PANNELL

The intriguing story of Sweet Briar's beginning becomes a part of each student as she enters into the college community. Mrs. Pannell, in her home Sweet Briar House, part of which was the original plantation home, sits behind the harp of Daisy Williams, in whose memory the college was founded.

And tomorrow is only a vision:
But today well lived, makes every yesterday a dream of happiness
And every tomorrow a vi-

Look well, therefore, to this day—"

PHI BETA KAPPA

Election to membership in the honorary society of Phi Beta Kappa represents the attainment of the highest ideals to which a student may aspire during her years at Sweet Brair. Members are chosen not only for their excellent academic records but also for evidence of broad cultural interests and promise of future intellectual growth. The number of seniors rarely exceeds ten per cent of the class and the election of juniors is the exception rather than the rule.

ACADEMIC HONORS

The Honors Plan of Study allows the interested student to follow her own path to an increasing knowledge. The Manson Memorial Alumnae Scholarship and the Mary Kendrick Benedict Scholarship are awarded to two members of the senior class for their scholarship and their contributions to the college. The Emily Watts McVea Scholars are those students whose outstanding academic records cause them to be named the top students of their classes.

EXECUTIVE BOARD

The Executive Board, composed of the student leaders of the community, assists in the educational purposes of Student Government. It sponsors the FACETS program, bringing art movies and book and panel discussions to the students. Active in improving the rules and regulations, this year it made amendments in the electoral procedure and in the apartment rule. Most student projects are initiated in the Executive Board.

GOVERNMENT

JUDICIAL BOARD

The work of the Judicial Board is fundamentally directed towards the education of students for the acceptance of individual responsibility, not only for the Honor System at Sweet Briar, but for the way of life embodied in it. In seeking to maintain the strength of the Honor System by conscientious interpretation of its spirit and regulations to the community, the Judicial Board is endowed with the power to judge cases which involve a lack of responsibility or a breach of the Honor System.

TAU PHI

CHUNG MUNG

"Glory, glory, I'm a Chung Mung" resounds throughout the campus as the "ghostly thirteen" combine the spirit of fun with their various projects such as Chung Mung goodies, boxwoods, Halloween parties and the Christmas Bazaar. An air of mystery surrounds this select group whether they are involved in tapping new members, harassing the Tau Phi's or in spreading the spirit of giving among their fellow students.

Each fall the sophomore class elects the QV's by secret ballot, and the names are not revealed until spring step-singing. This society began in 1937 with the dual purpose of encouraging the enthusiasm and spirit of the class and of making each individual aware of her responsibility to participate in class activities.

PAINT AND PATCHES

Paint and Patches is a student-run drama organization whose aim is "to entertain and educate." Under the direction of Mr. Thomas Schmunk, the students present a variety of plays from theatres ranging from Le Comedie Francaise to the twentieth century Absurdist. This year the group presented Moliere's "Doctor in Spite of Himself," Orwell's "Animal Farm" and "The Maids" by Genet. In May Mr. David Schaber from the Actors' Studio in New York visited P&P and directed his own play. His purpose was to provide the students with a more comprehensive understanding of the various aspects of the professional theatre.

AINTS AND ASSES

Aints and Asses is the organization with that distinctive name and those energetic and delightfully imaginative members. The pleasure of these clownish personalities is to parody Paint and Patches productions and other campus presentations which may have thought themselves to be taken wholly seriously. Among other activities they are shrill reminders that spring grass is to be walked around—a job requiring constant attention.

CHOIR

With the new chapel in the process of being built, the Sweet Briar Choir this year was reorganized. Fifty girls were selected and during the first semester, although they were unable to sing in the weekly Sunday service, they gave a concert which featured selections of music from five centuries in addition to a special Christmas chapel service. In the second semester the Choir again participated in the Sunday services; and a concert with the University of Virginia Glee Club was planned.

SWEET TONES

"Of ballads, songs and snatches, And dreamy lullaby!"

The Mikado

Sweet Briar is alive with the sounds of the Sweet Tones, whose songs provide a cheery atmosphere and delightful entertainment for May Day and Parent's Weekends, alumnae groups, the Board of Overseers and for other community activities. The informal singing group, led this year by Beth Gawthrop and composed of fourteen members chosen from the upper classes, highlights each year with their exciting Christmas Carol serenade at the dawn of vacation.

The United States National Student Association is a confederation of student bodies which are associated to give consideration to questions of mutual concern: student, student government and international affairs. The Sweet Briar NSA Committee sponsors events of student interest throughout the year and promotes services such as travel information for students. Delegates from Sweet Briar are sent yearly to the NSA Congress and to regional conferences.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS

The Young Democrats was formed to better understand government and politics. Working with Lynchburg in the gubernatorial campaign was one of their projects this year. The year was further highlighted by a national convention in the spring in Washington and by Terry Sanford, former governor of North Carolina, as a guest speaker on campus.

HISPANIC SOCIETY

The members of the Hispanic Society show an interest in the cultural, political and social aspects of Spanish-speaking countries. This year students have given lectures about their own countries, and advanced Spanish students helped first-year students at special tables provided for them in the Refectory on Wednesday nights.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS

Student interest and participation in politics are channeled through the Young Republicans Club. Members gain valuable experience through such events as club-sponsored debates, conferences, conventions, lectures by guest speakers and, as a special treat, by enjoying Young Republican Mixers held at nearby men's colleges.

Y. W. C. A.

The entire membership of the Y.W.C.A. meets monthly at dinner meetings, where programs of special interest are presented. It endeavors to serve the entire community by sending volunteers to such organizations as Chatham and Ryan's Old Folks' Homes, the Coolwell School, Lynchburg Training School and Hospital and by holding discussions with other colleges. It sponsors evening vesper services and the annual religious conference, which was honored this year in having as speaker Dr. Schubert M. Ogden from the Perkins Theological Seminary, Southern Methodist University.

WORLD AFFAIRS CLUB

The World Affairs Club stimulates interest in current events and broadens the horizons of Sweet Briar students beyond immediate college events; it sponsors dinner-table discussions and sends delegates to conventions at other colleges. This year its theme was Africa, and included in its program was a talk by Miss Belcher concerning her travels there.

CAMPUS CHEST

One hundred per cent community participation was the goal of this year's Campus Chest Drive. The energetic drive in the fall, begun with appeals given by local speakers, resulted in many donations and pledges. The money from the drive goes for foreign student scholarships and charities in the hope of furthering effective national and international relations.

STUDENT DEVELOPMENT

The Student Development Fund Committee is made up of a group of representatives from each dormitory. Their purpose is to raise money which goes into the Sweet Briar Development Fund. The goal this year was to aid in increasing faculty salaries.

KEENAN COLTON
Editor

The Sweet Briar News is a weekly student publication which provides reviews and previews of campus activity, analyzes relevant national and international events and is spiced with letters to the editor and controversial columns where student opinion finds open expression. With dynamic thought behind a united, enthusiastic staff this year, and with more attention to correct journalistic style and standards, the News has achieved more depth, quality and reader interest.

HANDBOOK AND KEY

The student handbook is the principal source of information concerning the Honor System, college regulations, and all activities and organizations. The Key, sent in the summer to incoming freshmen, contains a host of suggestions presented in a light, informative vein which help the student organize her preparations for the coming year at Sweet Briar.

EVENTS OF THE YEAR

Albert Tipton, flutist; Mary Norris, pianist; and Mario DiFiore, cellist, form the unusual chamber group of the Tipton Trio. The ensemble came to Sweet Briar in early February and presented a delightful evening of extraordinarily well-performed music.

A charming and lovely scholar of the harp, Grainne Yeats presented a lecture-recital of Irish music which included folk songs, the music of the Irish harpists, and selections by her father-in-law William Butler Yeats set to music by contemporary composers.

The Fall production of Paint and Patches was the highly frolicsome rendition of Moliere's "The Doctor In Spite of Himself." Colorful imaginative costumes and lively acting provided an entertaining evening during Parent's Weekend.

After being subjected to torrents of ecstatic praise by prominent critics, cheerfully quoted out of context by the world's subjects of this praise, the students of Sweet Briar were treated to the once-in-a-generation event of the Faculty Show. Mr. and Mrs. Rowland's rollicking musical, produced by Miss Belcher and Mr. Laurent, was loved enthusiastically by all as the entire faculty combined to give an outstanding performance.

The New York Pro Musica is a small group of vocalists and instrumentalists who perform music of the Medieval, Renaissance and Baroque periods. The fascination and beauty of the music from this relatively unexplored area from the 13th to the 18th centuries were opened to the Sweet Briar audience in a superb performance of the chamber group under the direction of Noah Greenberg. Here, the group is seen sightseeing during one of their tours through Europe.

As its Spring production, Paint and Patches presented "The Maids," by Jean Genet. Genet's play of the absurdity and cruelty of life was chosen to deepen understanding of this type of drama and to extend the horizons of those interested in the theatre to include a different school of thought. This presentation brought to an end a year of varied productions, which included Moliere's play and a reading of George Orwell's "Animal Farm."

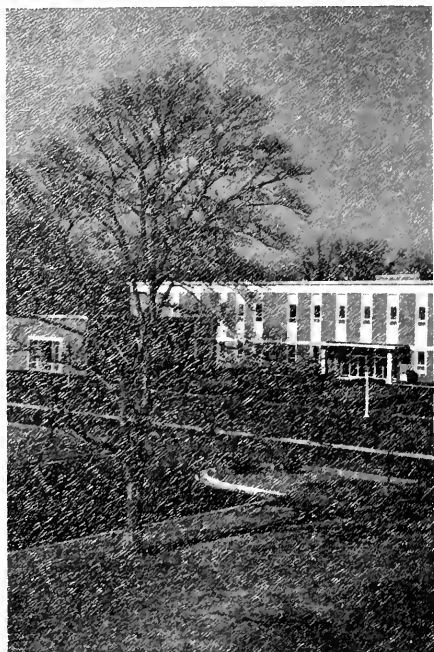

When Rey de la Torre, classical guitarist, performed on the Sweet Briar campus in March, he added to his triumphs already achieved on concert stages from Barcelona, Spain to New York City. Señor de la Torre's program of Spanish and Latin American guitar music clearly indicated his extraordinary talent and virtuosity.

In early January, the students had an opportunity to forget the Present and approaching mid-semester exams—and retreat momentarily into the Past. The atmosphere of the 18th century was achieved at a dinner in the Refectory by means of roast beef and Yorkshire pudding, colonial costumes, candlelight, and harpsichord music. Elizabeth Tucker Brooke Blackburn made the 18th century even more alive in her lecture on "Poetry of the View in the 18th Century." Special thanks are due Mrs. Pannell whose efforts made the evening possible.

The Connie Guion Science Building, completed for college opening in the fall of 1965, is a spacious, attractive and excellently equipped addition to the campus.

"We have an opening for a princess" was sung to a full house as the struggle of the princess with the pea began. "Once Upon A Mattress" was directed with excellent results, by Anne Ward.

"17, 18, 19, 20. That should do it."
Once Upon a Mattress.

"A little snow, tumbled about . . ."
King John.

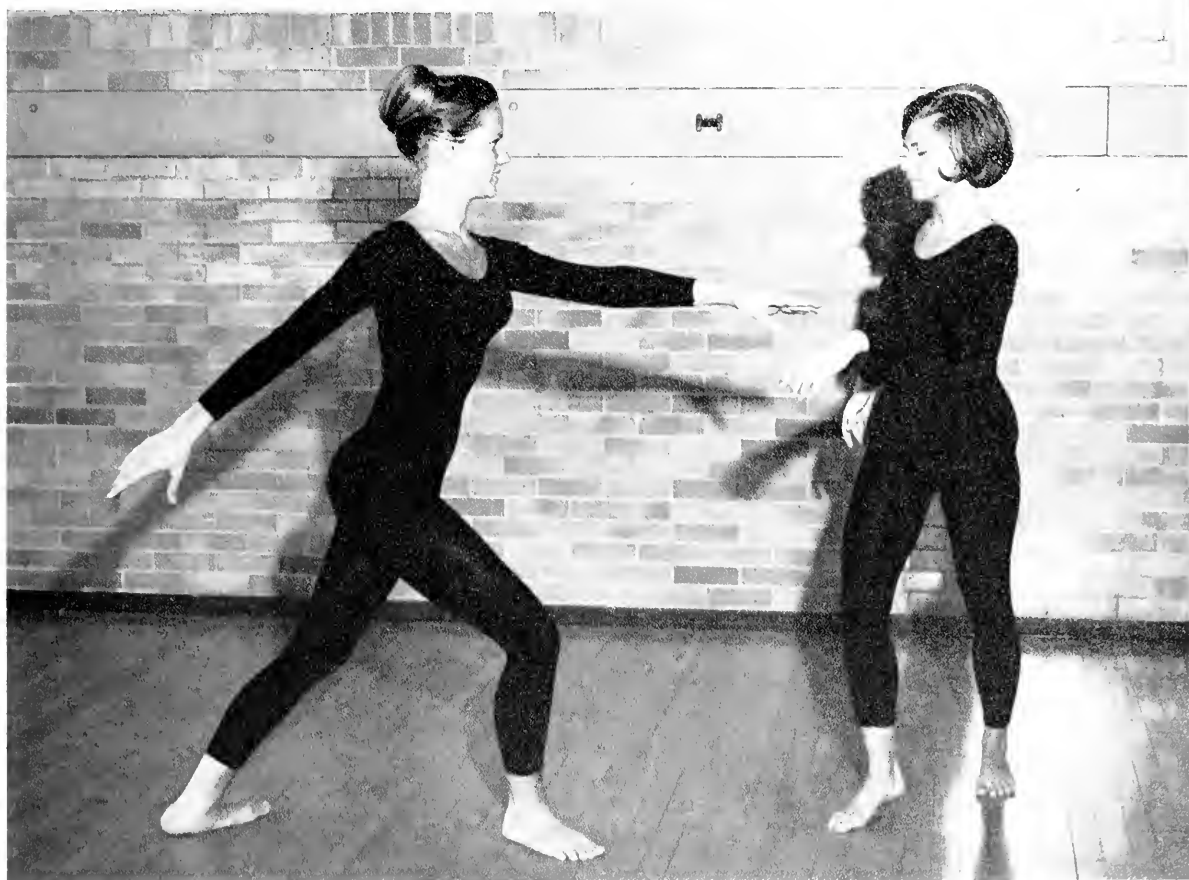

The Post Office, moved this year from the old building to the basement of Manson, offers more space and improved facilities.

Another addition to the campus is the new chapel, which the students watched being constructed during the year and in which the opening service was held Ash Wednesday.

"Then imitate the action of the tiger: Stiffen the sinews, summon up the blood."

A LETTER FROM A FATHER TO HIS SON

Dear -----:

I have just received your grades, and I don't think you realize how surprised and disappointed I am.

Your effort is not fair to me or to the school. Most of all, it is unfair to yourself.

Basically, you must learn to comprehend not only what is taught in the classroom and what you read in the preparation of your lessons, but you must learn, also, how to retain these things in your mind. It is not enough to understand something presently. You must learn to retain it. The very purpose of making notes is to impress the different matters permanently and indelibly upon your mind so that you will retain them. To do so you must review your notes from time to time.

May I impress upon you the following:

Comprehending and understanding what you hear in the classroom and what you read is about 50% of learning.

An additional 40% would have come about through making notes of what you comprehend and understand.

The other 10% is made up of reviewing your notes from time to time.

Thus, I want to impress upon you the thought that the difference between a low grade and a high grade is only a matter of the last 10%. Just think of it: only 10%—the time consumed in reviewing your notes and understanding them.

Get the idea?

Another point which I think you have not grasped so far is that of individual initiative. The boy who does not develop individual initiative is not going anywhere in business affairs in this world today. But the boy who develops individual initiative is the one who will succeed and be a credit to his community.

As an illustration, let us consider every father who sends a boy to college. If that father had not developed individual initiative when he was going to school, he would never have made enough money to send his boy to school in the first place. I cannot state it any plainer. If you hope to have a successful marriage, rear children and give them a good education, and be respected in your community, you must have sufficient ambition to want to do those things. They are not handed to you on a silver platter!

If you are satisfied to be an ordinary clerk in the store, bus driver or policeman, then you should simply continue what you are doing—namely, not giving your best effort. But if you want to succeed and own your own home, and make enough money to live on in later life when you get ready to retire, then you must buckle down to realities and have a desire now. When I say a desire, you must have a craving desire! A desire to want to learn. A desire to want to do things. That is just about it in a nutshell.

I note that your manners are graded "B" except for two "C's". Certainly, I have taught you enough manners to get an A—not only manners as to how to meet people—not only manners as to how to deport yourself, but table manners as well.

I note, also, that you got three B's and three C's in Citizenship. I am sure that you could improve upon this if you would but listen to what I tell you. Get your hair cut—even a crew cut. Get away from this "beatle" style. That fad is over with now and rapidly disappearing. It is a "beatle" type that is causing all of the trouble about destroying draft cards. If people are not proud of America, then they should go to some other country.

The trouble, however, is that they are not proud of anything. There is not another country that these draft dodgers would go to. What they want to do is to get away from the rule: "Seek and Ye Shall Find" to that of "Sit Down and We Will Bring It to You." Personally, I would like to horsewhip every one of them.

I don't want you to destroy this letter. I want you to read it two or three times. Bring it home with you and we will sit down and discuss it. In the meantime, please improve your manners, work on your citizenship, and last but not least, give more time to your studies. You ought to spend at least two hours a day in extra-curricular work.

All of the foregoing is predicated on the fact that I have an obligation to give you a chance and to extend all of the help possible. Contra, you have the obligation to take advantage of the opportunity which I extend to you.

With love and affection,
